2024 started off with cold and snowy weather. I spent our AMI Days making phone calls and connecting with my families. School Saturday was held on January 27th. Unfortunately, I did not have any parents attend but I was able to connect with one teacher in the Residency Program who had heard about KCIA and was interested in touring our building. We talked about everything that KCIA has to offer our families and students and she was very impressed with our atmosphere and beliefs.

I picked up glasses for the students that had their eye exams before break. They were excited to get their new glasses and were excited to remember what frames they had picked out since it had been a couple weeks since their exam.

Mrs. Randle and I cleaned out our shoe closet and provided 53 new pairs of shoes to students. This is a work in progress and we will continue to ensure that students have new shoes.

I attended a dance competition with my daughter and was able to watch a former student dance with her Lincoln Prep Dance Team! She loved to dance while here at KCIA so it was great to see that she is continuing to do what she loves at the high school level.

I transported a grandmother and granddaughter to KCIA to complete their enrollment and ensured that she had new shoes and hygiene products for when she begins school. Her clothing sizes are a bit unique, so Becky and I are working to get her new clothes that fit her best.

The FACE Team continues to assist families with hygiene, household, clothing and food needs as well as daily van pickups.

We started off January with a few snow days! The kids really enjoyed having a few extra days off here and there after having a long winter break. During some of our unexpected snow days, I connected with some of my families on my caseload to see if they needed anything. Most of my families stated that they did not need anything at the time.

I was able to work with Northpoint again this month to help two families with bedding and furniture. I'm also working with North Point to help a student that needs braces. North also visit one day to help the FACE Team develop a process to help our Caring Closet run more efficiently. The volunteers also discussed either building a space to keep our pantry secure or purchasing a system for us to secure the pantry.

The FACE Team is still working on getting shoes to all students that were donated from Soles4Souls. We will continue identifying those students most in need then if there are any shoes left over, we will provide shoes to other students who want an extra pair of shoes.
